

Amanda MacDonald

WEB DEVELOPER

Profile

Was formally a passionate preschool teacher was searching for original ways to make learning fun for my students. The same passion has transferred into my new career of Web Development. I love to find innovative yet simple solutions to complex problems and always ready to learn. I work well both in a team and individual setting. I am adequate in CSS, HTML, JavaScript. Currently enrolled in coding boot-camp hosted by the University of Arizona. In my spare time I take independent online courses in Clojure, Python. Most of all I am interested and eager to becoming an asset to every team I am apart of.
